

	SOME	ANY
	Used with uncountables and plural countables	Used with uncountables and plural countables
Affirmatives	I've got some money I've got some friends
Negatives		I haven't got any money I haven't got any friends
"Yes/no" Questions		Have you got any money? Have you got any friends? (I don't know if you have or not)
Invitations and rhetorical questions	Would you like some coffee? (I am expecting you to say "yes") Would you like some money? (Who says "no" to money?)

Compare these two sentences:

"Did I give you any homework yesterday?"

(The teacher can't remember!)

"Did I give you some homework yesterday?"

(The teacher remembers that he did. The question is rhetorical.)