

USEFUL LIST OF ADVERBIALS

Time After that            Afterwards            As yet            At first            At once            At present (f)            At the moment            At the same time            Before that/then            Beforehand            By then/that time            Earlier            Eventually *            Finally *            First *            Hitherto (f)            Immediately            Initially            In the meantime            Lastly            Meanwhile            Next *            Previously            Simultaneously            Since then            So far            Soon            Subsequently (f)            Until then Comparing &amp; contrasting; alternatives; concessions Admittedly            Alternatively            At the same time            Be that as it may            Better still            By comparison	(cont.) By contrast (f)            By the same token            Conversely (f)            Despite this            Equally            However            In comparison            In spite of this            In the same way            Instead            Likewise            Nevertheless (f)            Nonetheless (f)            Of course            On the contrary (f)            On the one hand            On the other hand            Similarly            Still            Though            Yet Ordering points; adding information Above all            Additionally            Also +            As well            As well as that            Besides            First(ly) / second(ly)            etc            First of all            Finally            Furthermore (f)            In addition            In the first place (f)            Last(ly)            More importantly	(cont.) Most importantly            Moreover (f)            Next            What is more Concluding; summarizing; generalizing All in all            Altogether            As a rule            Broadly speaking            By and large            Essentially            Generally            In brief            In conclusion            In general            In other words            In short            Mostly            On average            On balance            On the whole            Overall            To some extent            To sum up            Ultimately Giving examples; focusing Among others            For example            For instance            In particular            Mainly            Particularly            Primarily            Principally            Specifically	Reformulating; clarifying At least            Indeed            In fact            In other words            Rather            That is (to say)            To put it another way Changing subject; referring As for / as to            As regards            Incidentally            Regarding            Speaking of            That brings me on to (inf)            To turn to            With reference to            With regard to Cause &amp; effect; reason &amp; result; inference Accordingly (f)            As a result            Because of this            Consequently (f)            For this / that reason            Hence (f)            If not            If so            In that case            Otherwise            Thus * (f)            Therefore * + (f)
--	--	---	--